

"It's Delamore, so it must be Summer"

As Delamore approaches its quarter-century we again invite our visitors to an exhibition of fresh art, including all new works from around 200 sculptors and painters displayed in the house and gardens. We also welcome the return of Artizan whose artists appear in three gallery spaces including demonstrations and drop-ins in which visitors are invited to participate.

Seen at their best during May, the truly magnificent gardens are an ideal backdrop for our superb sculptures, while large, light rooms in Delamore House provide the perfect setting for paintings and other artworks. The Old Kitchen Café remains a favourite place for our visitors to enjoying light refreshments, with covered seating in the kitchen garden area close by.

Clare Law 'Flourish' oil on canvas

Over 100 superb pieces of sculpture are thoughtfully placed throughout the spacious gardens and woodland. Visitors are encouraged to seek out further artworks placed along the tree-lined Millennium Avenue and to visit the impressive cromlech or take a moment to stand quietly amid the many specimen trees, taking in the wonderful flowering shrubs and carefully tended flower beds.

Ange Williams 'This Way' mosaic

The three galleries display paintings, sculpture and ceramics by some of our most prestigious artists while Delamore has always championed the work of new and emerging artists to ensure our commitment to showing fresh art every year.

...and don't forget to visit our popular Old Kitchen Café - open every day!
